ANDREA SORENSEN

CEO, Liiingo

Your success in business and life parallels your ability to break through barrier after barrier, and to build a team that can do the same. Learn to navigate the traps along the way and to apply the formula for success.

Andrea is the CEO of Liiingo, a mobile platform that redefines access and inclusivity, helping brands connect with customers who are more mobile and diverse than ever. In 2022, Andrea was named as a Top Women in Cloud founder and participated in the first Women in Tech International Trade Mission. Andrea has 20+ years experience in process engineering; as well as product, program, and project management. She has a Master's degree in Organizational Communication and taught Business courses at Boise State University and University of Phoenix. She has a blackbelt in Taekwondo.
